STUDENTS.

—o—

The names below are the pupils of the Spring Session only. The Departure of the late chief of the school, taking with him nearly all of the Boarding Scholars, reduced the number, at the beginning of the Spring Session, to twenty. By energy and perseverance on the part of the friends of the school, the number was increased to forty-two. And this in one of the severest winters in the memory of the oldest man. The future is full of hope and promise, and the Directors are to be congratulated.

LOCATION.

The College-building is located in the western portion of the town of Littleton, in a Campus embracing twenty-two acres. That portion of the Campus immediately surrounding the building is shaded by a beautiful grove of Oaks and Hickorys, and extends down to the Rail-Road.

TOWN OF LITTLETON

is situated on the Raleigh and Gaston Rail-Road, twenty-one miles west of Weldon, and on the high ridge dividing the waters of the Roanoke and Tar rivers. It is elevated above the malarial district, being nearly 400 feet above the level of the Sea. Its health is unrivaled. It has grown rapidly since the war, and its future is very bright. It contains three churches, Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian. The Protestant Episcopal church here has an organization, but no church building, as yet. The town is within five or six hours ride by rail from all important points in Eastern North Carolina and Southern Virginia. The morality of the town is excellent and the piety of the church members is far above the average.

COLLEGE BUILDING, &c.

The College, with the additional buildings now in progress, will be 120 feet long, extending back in the form of a T 80 feet. This will give us room for thirty additional boarders. The building, being on the ridge dividing the water of the Tar and Roanoke, the rain falling on the side of the Campus next the railroad, flows into the Roanoke five miles distant, while that falling on the Southern side of the grounds seeks the Tar, about twenty-five miles away. The chapel, desk-room and recitation rooms, all being on the first floor, the pupils will not be constantly climbing flights of stairs to their physical discomfort and injury. Nearly all the dormitories are on the second floor, and there are four different means of reaching the lower floor, or the ground, without injury, in case of fire. Our rooms are comfortable, furniture new, and our table will be supplied with as good food as the market will afford. The pupils eat with the President and teachers, and our object shall be, to make it a home circle, cultivating refinement of manners and a due regard for the proprieties of life, without too much of its formality.

The town is within three miles of Panacea Springs, the water from which is free to the pupils of Littleton Female College. It can be had every day fresh from the spring, for the merely nominal cost of transportation. (Analysis of water on last page).

It is within a mile of Shaw's Healing Springs, the water of which is also free. Analysis shows a large amount of carbonate of iron, sodium, lime, &c.

It is also within five miles of Birney's Spring which contains a considerable amount of sulphur. The water of this is also free to us.

EUNOMIAN SOCIETY.

The young ladies of the College have organized the Eunomian Literary Society for the purpose of improving themselves in reading and of cultivating their taste for Literary accomplishments. It has been a powerful auxiliary in improving the young ladies in composition. It has increased their desire for improvement in Elocution; and has had a refining effect upon all its members, and drawn them nearer to each other. We look forward to still greater usefulness in this excellent society.

GOVERNMENT.

The discipline of the College is as nearly parental as we can make it. The Faculty all working together with the President, in cultivating elegance and refinement of manners, pure morality and vital religion. In other words, we shall strive at all times to prepare the young ladies, committed to our care, for lives of practical usefulness, as noble, Christian women. All the teachers will assist in the government of the school and cordially support the President in his endeavors to maintain a healthy discipline. The days are divided into hours for study, hours for recitation, hours for recreation, and hours for rest. No one will be excused from any of these, except in cases of sickness. When the bell is rung at 10 o'clock, P. M., all lights will be extinguished, except those in the teachers' rooms. The female teachers will then visit all the pupils' rooms to see that all are in their places, and no danger from fire. No noise will be permitted after that hour.

The young ladies will not be permitted to spend a night out of the College, except by permission from home. That permission must come in a special letter to the President. Requests made through letters to the young ladies, will not be noticed. Visitors from the pupils' homes wishing to call upon any of the young ladies, must bring letters of introduction to the President, with written permission from parent or guardian. Boarding pupils will be required to attend Sunday-School and church, at least once, every Sabbath, except when the weather prevents. Young ladies will be required to cover their own beds and to keep their rooms neat and in order. Servants will carry wood and water and do other needful work in the rooms. We earnestly request the young ladies to make an inexpensive selection of dress and underwear and not to expend money in any elaborate outfit, as it is totally unnecessary. Parents are earnestly requested not to send boxes of eatables to their daughters,

EXAMINATIONS AND REPORTS.

Examinations occur at the completion of any study, and at the close of each half session. They are always in writing, and are as important as the daily recitations in determining a pupil's standing in her studies. A daily record is kept, of each young lady's scholarship and deportment, and the average of these with the examinations determine a pupil's rank in her class. A report is sent to parent or guardian at the close of each half-session.

Pupils, whose average recitation and examination exceeds 90, of the maximum 100, will be announced on commencement day "Distinguished."
